TRANSFORMATIONAL LEADERSHIP FOR GLOBAL ENTERPRISE

SATURDAY 16 – MONDAY 18 APRIL 2011

This course may be limited to 8 - 12 participants

FEATURING

Linda Chaousis – Adjunct Faculty of Carnegie Mellon University – Australia and Managing Director of Right Angle Strategies.

ADVANCED EDUCATION PROGRAM

Carnegie Mellon University - Australia’s Advanced Education Program offers elite, practical and relevant professional development for executives and busy professionals. By selecting from a diverse range of Specialised Certifications or Executive Workshops, participants can ensure their skills are current and competitive, without the commitment of full-time or part-time study. This course may be available for credit towards a Masters degree from Carnegie Mellon University - Australia. However, an increased registration fee commensurate with our degree programs may apply. Please contact the Admissions Office for more information on admissions@cmu.edu.au.

ABOUT THE COURSE

Learn how you can further develop your ‘brand’ of transformational leadership skills to lead your team through change, turbulence, ambiguity and post GFC adjustments, and have your results speak for themselves. Based on extensive research conducted by a number of academics internationally, this workshop will discuss the difference between transactional and transformational leaders and the impact each style has been proven to have on organisational and individual productivity.

The goal of the course is to engage in an active dialogue about leadership and prepare you to identify and build leadership characteristics in your chosen profession. Each participant will have an opportunity to reflect on their leadership style and develop an action plan to further embed transformational leadership into their daily practice, and to coach the leaders who report to them to do the same.
